

2009 ECA SEMINAR SERIES: UNDERSTANDING CLIMATE VARIABILITY AND CLIMATE CHANGE

Environmental Consultants
Association

What do I, as a consultant, need to know about climate change to better advise my clients?

The 2009 ECA Seminar Series is designed to provide progressive information towards answering this question. The ECA has arranged this series for its members with presentations by acknowledged experts in climate change. Each seminar will include a panel discussion and light refreshments to follow. Non-ECA members are welcome to attend.

All seminars will be held at The Celtic Club, 48 Ord Street, West Perth and commence at 5:30pm.

Wednesday 20 May 2009

Seminar 2: Understanding historical trends in climate and impacts on natural systems

Current information about measured change in climate as it affects Western Australia, including change in rainfall, temperatures, stream flow, groundwater, sea levels.

Speakers:

Marco Marinelli (Bureau of Meteorology)

John Ruprecht (Department of Water)

Upcoming Seminar Dates and Topics

Wednesday 22 July 2009

Seminar 3: Predicted change in climate systems

Review of current predictive modelling and outcomes to indicate future trends and consequences of climate change. This series will consider the efficacy of models used and reliability of predictions made.

Wednesday 23 September 2009

Seminar 4: Responding to change in climate systems – infrastructure, social systems and growing systems

Assessment of options for effective and practical response to reliable climate change information. While this seminar is intended to be informative, it is not expected to result in 'best practice' recommendations for ECA members.

Wednesday 25 November 2009

Seminar 5: Responding to change in climate systems - carbon trading, emission reduction and energy efficiencies.

Content to be developed during the seminar series to meet arising interests in response strategies.
