Government of Western Australia Department of Commerce WorkSafe

Harmonious workplaces: Preventing & managing unhealthy workplace behaviour – Employer information session Are there signs of unhealthy workplace behaviour in your workplace, where Are there signs of unnealiny workplace behaviour in your workplace, where staff are not getting on or they feel they have been treated unfairly? While each of us are human and act respectfully most of the time, there are occasions stan are not getting on or mey reer mey nave been treated unitarity? vynite e of us are human and act respectfully most of the time, there are occasions when behavieurs concret out of band and the montal beath of these interof us are numan and act respectfully most of the time, there are occasions when behaviours can get out of hand and the mental health of those involved can be affected The importance of sound leadership, effective communication and healthy The importance of sound leadership, effective communication and nearing this workplace cultures for harmonious workplaces will be emphasised during this session. In addition this session will provide information for employees on workplace cultures for narmonious workplaces will be emphasised during the session. In addition this session will provide information for employers on: what negative workplace behaviours are (such as bullying behaviours can be affected.

risk factors associated with negative workplace behaviours;

- and conflict);
- responding and managing negative behaviours in the workplace. examples of risk assessment tools; and risk management approach; Justine McGillivray and Helen Mott: Senior Inspector/Scientific Officers,
- Justine Incommence and Regenomics, WorkSafe Division, Department of

Presenters:

Commerce.

Where: Merredin Community Resource Centre, Hall Room, 110 Barrack Street Merredin

When: 21 February 2017 at 9:30am - 12:30pm

Cost: Free event

Book now: harmonised workplace merredin.eventbrite.com.au